I. Purpose Statement

The five-year Expanding Access to Justice (EAJ) program, funded by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) through the Freedom House-led Human Rights Support Mechanism (HRSM) and implemented in partnership between Pact and the American Bar Association Rule of Law Initiative (ABA ROLI), aims to sustainably strengthen access to and understanding of justice mechanisms by individuals and communities in Somalia and Somaliland. To achieve this goal, EAJ carries out a comprehensive and complementary set of activities, based on approaches that prescribe engagement with diverse Access to Justice partners at different levels.

EAJ seeks to engage different actors within the broader field of justice to support sustainable improvements to the quality and expansion of legal aid and justice services, while promoting rights-based justice services by formal and informal justice actors. Focusing on legal aid provision, EAJ supports civil society and state justice partners to create network-based platforms necessary to foster critical collaboration among a broad range of justice actors. Furthermore, EAJ takes on a holistic capacity development (CD) approach to ensure that its justice partners can expand and increase the quality of their services and build their institutional capacity for improved sustainability of outcomes.

To achieve the program goal of expanded and enhanced access to justice and mechanisms to address grievances, the EAJ program will implement activities through three inter-related components:

1. Improved public access to legal information through research, analysis, outreach, and policy interventions
2. Enhanced quality and reach of legal aid services
3. Increased capacity and sustainability of access to justice actors

II. Program Thematic Areas

To support Access to Justice actors in improving and expanding legal aid services, the EAJ will fund small grant proposals that focus on one or more of the following thematic areas:

1. Land rights
2. Gender and/or social inclusion issues
3. Policy and legislative development
4. Institutional capacity development
5. Innovations of legal aid services
6. Use of evidence to improve decision-making

III. Categories of Grants

To support Access to Justice actors in influencing policies on key access to justice and rights issues in Somalia, the project seeks to support selected legal aid organizations (LAOs) with small grants.

1. Strategic Opportunity Grants

- Short-term grants for influencing policies or local decision-making processes on issues related to access to justice or legal aid services;
- support for advocacy/engagement with formal and informal justice actors (including governmental actors);
- strategic or pilot research and learning events;
- and funding for LAO-supported strategic litigation.

Examples of activities under this category may include community or national forums (venue rental, participant travel, external trainer/facilitator costs); support for legislation and policy development to improve Access to Justice and legal aid provision; policy analysis (technical experts); and publication costs.

2. Legal Aid Expansion and Protection Grants

- Support to establish additional service points in a new location (legal aid desk, legal aid clinic, one stop center);
- support to respond to urgent or emergency issues;
- critical or relocation support to individuals or communities;
- support for public outreach campaigns on pertinent grievances and conflicts.

Examples of such grants may include piloting of new mobile legal aid service delivery tools; initial personnel deployment, operational or administrative costs (paralegals, lawyers, transport, office operations) for new or expanding legal aid service points; radio-related activities, such as public announcements, talk shows, etc.; information, education & communication (IEC) materials for public outreach campaigns; or initial travel, resettling cost, legal fees for emergency legal or relocation for clients.

3. In-Kind Grants

- Support to formal justice institutions to influence policy or local decision-making process;
- Support for the development of information systems to improve the use of evidence by justice actors;
- Support to fostering or strengthening sector-wide collaboration and networking between LAOs and government.

Examples of such grants may include logistics, venue costs, or IT supplies.

Applicants must indicate one of the three grant categories above in their applications.

EAJ anticipates these awards will be cost-reimbursable, fixed obligation, or in-kind grants. These grant types will be based on the program description and the results of the partners' pre-award risk assessment, which will be conducted prior to issuance of the award.
